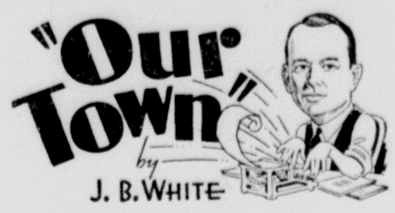
LEGION PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

OTHIE SEATON GETS 8 YEARS



NINETEEN YEARS

Hallowed fields, imperishable of memory, have been rich with wheat these nineteen years.

Red poppies carpet hillsides beneath which old passions sleep forever. A new generation is growing up, schooled in the arts of Peace.

The world forgets and it is well that it is so. But always at the Eleventh hour on the Eleventh day of the Eleventh month . . . . like mists of the dawn . . . the shadowy legions march.

Red November leaves are falling down to the sheer brown earth, and Autumn winds follow the path of hazy skies, now taunting with somber colors and mellow light the fierce anger of Summer's big red sun.

Out of the East they come in unnumbered thousands. They are the hosts of memory.

For the moment they pass in review. And in that moment, in their honor, the nation stands at salute. And it will ever be so.

The slain of earth are always secure in the nation's tribute. We praise the memory of those who die in war. It is well, for sacrifice is humanity's shrine.

They sleep beneath the crosses, row on row. Where lie the brown leaves of October's weeping soon the hush of winter will come, and snow, white like the stones that mark their place, will give grandeur to heroic soil. In the spring red poppies will flame along the roads and paint the hillsides warm with color. The centuries will not dim the estimate of their valor.

It is not enough that we thus remember them. "Peace has victories no less renowned than war." It must not happen again! We would not justify their sacrifices if arms should again bury humanity's hope. There is no glory in War.

This Man Parnell

Yesternday the Future Farmers closed their poultry show in Cameron. It was the best ever held in point of exhibits and interest taken. In the back ground of these exhibits and all they imply for progress on the farm, looms a fine personality. He is E. D. Parnell, teacher of vocational agriculture. His work is getting big results. Its effect on the future is very promising. He makes many personal sacrifices, but he gets the job done, and does it better. He's the kind that challenges the admiration of us all.

ARMISTICE DAY

By H. B. McCLELLEN

The war is over! An Armistice has been signed! Nineteen years ago these words were emblazoned in the headlines of the newspapers throughout the civilized world. A world tragedy had ended. No more anxiety in the homes of those who had sons, husbands, fathers serving at the front, in camps and aboard ships in submarine-infested seas. No more long watches through the cold dreary night in no-mans-land for the soldiers at the front; no more hunger, thirst or wounds. Their daily traffic in horror had ended. Soon they would be coming back home to take up civilian life where it had abruptly ended months and years before.

On November eleventh we celebrate a day that is observed universally. With the exceptions of Christmas and New Year's day, Armistice day is the only day of the year which is observed in practically all of the Christian nations and most of the other civilized nations of the world.

To those of us who were unborn on this momentous day in 1918, and to those who were too young to remember, Armistice day is only a matter of history learned from text books, or perhaps from our elders. But to those of us who remember the hilarity and rejoicing, it made an impression that time cannot erase.

WHITE FACING PRISON FOR BLACK'S MURDER

Othie Seaton, farm foreman on a bottom plantation of the R. L. Batte interests here, was convicted by a jury in District Court here at 2:40 p. m. Wednesday and given 8 years in Texas prison for the crap game murder of Washington (Jack) McCoy, a negro here on May 22 of this year.

The conviction was a limelight development on the front of justice and came as a result of jam up prosecution by the state's fiery Criminal District Attorney, Emory B. Camp. It was one of few prison terms assessed in a score over the color line, exacting punishment of a white man for the slaying of a negro.

Seaton, defended by W. C. Wallace, took the verdict rather calmly. It came 17 hours and 40 minutes after the jury had retired at 9 p. m. Tuesday and sustained the state in an array of evidence plus an impassioned plea by Camp whose address to the

Years Greatest Show "Artists and Models" Opens Sunday at Cameron

Radio, generally considered the "baby" among entertainment mediums, has just discovered that instead of being the child, it can justly claim to being the daddy of the new Jack Benny filmusical, "Artists and Models," which opens next Sunday at the Cameron Theatre, with a cast headed by Benny, Ida Lupino, Gail Patrick, Richard Arlen, Ben Blue, Judy Canova, Louis Armstrong's Swing Orchestra, Martha Raye, Connie Boswell and Andre Kostelanetz' Orchestra.

Benny, starring in the film, is heard regularly every Sunday over a coast-to-coast hookup. Misses Lupino and Patrick, and Arlen, have appeared many times as guest stars on nationally-broadcast programs. Judy Canova, hill-billy comedienne, gained her tremendous popularity, which led to the offer to appear in "Artists and Models," on the air, and Connie Boswell is a member of the famous Boswell Sisters, radio songstresses.

Martha Raye, familiarly known as the "Ultra-Violent Raye," disports herself on the air every week—Andre Kostelanetz and his Orchestra are a regular weekly feature—and Louis Armstrong's Swing Orchestra

War Vet Finds He May Get $17,500

Ralph C. Swanson of Fontana, California, may be $17,100 richer today as the result of a chain letter he mailed out to old buddies of Company B, 345th Machine Gun Batallion, 90th Division, which came to the hand of Henry C. Dreyer in Cameron.

Swanson was gassed in France. For 19 years he has been trying to establish that his disabilities were incurred in the war, but could not prove that he had been in a military hospital in France.

Some years ago he lost an eye and has been in failing health since he was gassed in France.

As a last resort he wrote a chain letter which he sent first to his old pal of arms Lee M. Pool in Greenville. Upon receipt of this letter Pool mailed it to Henry C. Dryer in Cameron who was the Company bugler. Mr. Dreyer was one of the few men embarking for the States after the war who kept intact all papers handed him by his officers.

It was a lucky break for Swanson when Mr. Dreyer found in his files

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

By JOHN McCRAE

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky,
The Larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard among the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Fields

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow

Mrs. Parnell and Mrs. Wiese Unite in Bridge Courtesy

The social environment of Hallowe'en's traditional season produced through hostess co-operation one of the outstanding bridge entertainments of the year when Mrs. E. D. Parnell and Mrs. W. C. Wiese invited friends to the Parnell home on Thursdy evening.

Nine tables of bridge brought the party 36 guests.

Colorful Hallowe'en decorations completed the perfect appointments for this warm hospitality. John Ed. Parnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Parnell, had a part in the opening ceremonies when he received guests in errie costume where shadows were heavy in the half light of the porch entrance.

The entertainment suite revealed an array of decorative art with lantens and figures to be seen in lighting effects in a most comprehensive appointment to say "Hallowe'en" to the guests who were ushered in and shown the grab bag on the mantle from which gifts were later taken by those who caught tricks with the duce. Hallowe'en noise makers were prizes thus distributed.

Harvey Yoe was the lucky one for the evening winning a cigarette container with a grand slam. Mrs. Yoe held the little slam award and was given a relish dish. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davidson held high score and were given book ends.

Hallowe'en novelty paper covered the trays from which the refreshment course of salad and coffee was served.

Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Dero Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tag, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Allday, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Barmore, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Reichert, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bush, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Baskin, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Yoe, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Dusek, Mr. and Mrs. Emory B. Camp and Mrs. Phillip Reid.

a roster of the Company as it left French soil on the return trip home. In this list appears the name of Ralph C. Swanson, showing that he was gassed and had been in the hospital.

Mr. Dreyer went to the service officer for the Legion, Robert Claypool, who was in Cameron Saturday, and found that the proof contained in the Company roster was sufficient to prove up Swanson's claim of service connected disabilities.

Mr. Dreyer lost no time in dispatching a wire to Swanson telling him the good news. If Swanson receives pay in the amount of the average for this disability claim he should be paid at the rate of $75 per month and for the lapsed time he should receive $17,500 and henceforward receive his monhly compensation.

Thus it was that the chain letter was passed only one time to get results.

Swanson at one time lived in Minneapolis, Minnesota, from which place he entered the army. They were all in Company B, 345th Machine Gun Batallion. Dreyer was the Bugler. When he got the letter from Pool he went to the Company group picture which was made at Camp Travis in 1917 and there identified his old Buddy who had spent 19 years trying to establish his claim.

"I remember well, all the circumstances," said Mr. Dreyer. "We went into action on the St. Miehel sailent on the night of September 8th, 1918. We lost 28 men from our company that night and among them was Henry C. Swanson. I remember also that Harry W. Beavers of Milano, was killed that night. I helped to load him in the ambulance. I do not recall that he died immediately but was badly gassed and died over seas. The Legion Post at Milano is named for Beavers. I recall also that Mrs. Beavers, the mother was one of the Gold Star Mothers who went back to France last year as guest of the United States Government to visit the graves of their war dead.

Mr. Dreyer, engaged in the sheet metal business here, was very happy to have had a part in proving up the record of his old Buddy.

organizations of national importance, notably as an organization whose primary functions are the perpetuation of our American ideals and institutions; the rehabiliation of those suffering from service connected disabilities and the employment of all able to work adequate care of the dependents of those brave men and women who have paid the supreme sacrifice. and the maintenance of lasting peace."

The American Legion program for Texas during the next 12 months has been shaped by Cammander Danforth. It includes a 10-point public health program, continued child welfare work, a drive to find employment for men who have passed the 40-year mark, a vigorous campaign against all isms, a lasting and secure peace for the nation; a continuation of its work among the boys of the State; and a broadened service to the State and the communities in the State.

Memberships already are rolling into State Headquarters. Thousands of veterans who have never belonged to the American Legion are seeking membership and an opportunity to put their shoulder to wheel. There are approximately 136,000 World War veterans eligible for membership in The American Legion in Texas and it is the hope of Commander Danforth that at least half of this number be members of the American Legion at the end of the week's membership drive.

Census

Hays and Mrs. Maude Morrison Chambers.

Three classes of people are to be included in the census. They are those who are totally unemployed, those who are part time employed and those who are underpaid, but employed, and desire a better situation.

Cards are to be left at every mailing address in the city and on the routes. In addition every home in the city and on the routes is to be canvassed and a card left. These cards are to be returned to the postoffice or gathered up by the employes of the postal system.

If cards are improperly filled out the postal employes must again contact the unemployed and correct the errors. Caution was urged by Mr. Hays that all who wish to file an employment blank be careful to fill in correctly. If more than the normal percentage come back improperly filed, the task will be almost too great for the limited number of workers.

The census is a result of action by the last congress. It is regarded as a new development in the economic warfare. The president along with his party, is hopeful of solving America's great problem of the unemployed and needs the information sought in this census as a correct indication of the conditions in America.

"I express appreciation in advance," said Mr. Hays, "for the cooperation of the people and the unemployed in this gigantic undertaking. Due to the limited time and the possibility of errors, it seems we are faced with the hardest task of our lives, but we can do the job with the proper co-operation."

Unemployment blanks may be filled out and taken to the postoffice.

Yoemen Play Thorndale Friday

By CHAS M. HICKS

The Thorndale Bulldogs will be the next opponents for the Cameron Yoemen. This game will be the last district game to be played on the local gridiron this season. The Thorndale team is a newcomer in class B football and has had little success so far. Thorndale has won only one game in the district and that one was from the Thrall Tigers, a team the Yoemen defeated last Friday by a score of 47 to 6. Thorndale was defeated by Belton 85 to 0 and the local fans are looking forward to the Cameron-Thorndale game to see if the Yoemen can overwhelm Thorndale as easily as Belton did.

Belton seems to feel that the Cameron team is the only team that will give them any trouble in maintaining an undefeated season. A week ago Belton moved their game with Thorndle up to Thursday night so their entire squad could see the Cameron-Georgetown game. This past week end Belton had an open date and Coach Safley and a number of his plyears were in Cameron for the Thrall game. It is reported that Belton has moved their game with Rosebud this week up to Thursday so they can scout the Yoemen the third time in a row.

"Saturday's Heroes" Football Classic of 1937 Screen Triumphs of College Life At The Cameron Theatre for One Day Saturday

"Saturday's Heroes," RKO Radio's contribution to the cinema's annual pigskin program, brings to the screen not only it's full quota of touchdown thrills but tackles a new angle on a controversial subject—professionalism in college football. It not only depicts the evils of subsidized school spirit, but offers a solution to the growing problem and presents an example of how the propsed solution might work out. This picture opens at the Cameron Theatre Saturday.

"Saturday's Heroes" gives Van Heflin who has risen rapidly to screen prominence by his work in such films as "Annapolis Salute" and "Flight from Glory," his first leading part. Opposite him is Marian Marsh, whose blond loveliness enhances the production cinema and provides logical romantic stimulus for its love story.

The screen play is by Paul Yawitz, Charles Kaufman, Maxwell Shane and David Silverstein from a story by George Templeton, and is laid in and around three mid-Western college towns. Van Heflin plays a star quarter-back who augments his slender income as an athlete by selling the complimentary tickets given to him and other players, and gets dismissed from school, not for having done it, but for having been caught at it. His dismissal comes despite the efforts of Marian Marsh and her father, Minor Watson, coach.

Bitter at his treatment and at the system which permits colleges to make millions under the cloak of amateur arthletics, and allows them to fire athletes for making comparative pin money by the same system, Van goes to Weston, a small college, converts its officials to a novel policy of cleaning up college football by dragging it into the open through publicly paying its athletes and refusing to meet schools which secretly subsidize their teams.

To publicize his campaign Van lists the aid of Richard Lane, a sports columnist, and helps coach little Weston. The breath-taking annual big game thoroughly tests the proposed system, and gives the picture its climax.

For the two games sequences the company and several hundred extras sweltered for more than a week in Pasadena's famous Rose Bowl, scene of annual battles for the football supremacy of the country.

Team-mates and opponets of Van Heflin are played by such promising young huskies as Alan Bruce, Crawford Weaver and John Arledge. Minor Watson and Walter Miller convincingly portrays college coaches, and George Irving and Frank M. Thomas the roles of unversity presidents.

Hilarious comedy relief is furnished Frank Jenks as an unsubsidized athlete working his way through school as a soda jerker, by Al St. John, veteran comic of silent days and by Willie Best, in a darky role.

The most sharp-eyed observers will have no fault to find with the authenticity of the foot ball play in "Saturday's Heroes" which were supervised by Morley Drury, University of Southern California's contribution to the All-American football eleven of 1927.

Seaton

jury was in effect a Philippic against the bloody record of Milam county.

The jury came into the court room at 2:40 Wednesday and rendered its verdict.

On the afternoon of May 22nd, McCoy sat in a crap game with two other negroes in a seed house near the oil mill of the Batte interests, and there was shot in the back with a sawed off shot gun. He ran from the building and made his way about 150 yards near the Plentl hatchery and there fell. City Marshal Gene Smith, arrested Seaton.

A court of inquiry held by Sheriff R. M. Kennedy, District Attorney Camp and Justice of Peace Womack Brashear, developed some startling evidence at the time of the killing.

The negro taken to a local hospital, made a statement a short time before he died in which he declared he did not know who shot him, nor could he think of any reason why he was shot. The District Attorney obtained this statement.

Seaton confessed to officers the negro had tried to borrow some money from him and when he told the negro he did not have money, the negro cursed him. "When I went and got the gun, I intended to shoot the negro," Seaton was quoted as saying.

Officers said that Seaton borrowed a sawed-off shot gun from Otto Gebhardt, who was sitting under a shed near the gin. Seaton then followed the negro into the seed house where McCoy engaged in a crap game with two other negroes: "I called to McCoy and when he looked around I shot him," Seaton told the District Attorney at the time of the inquiry.

McCoy lived until 6 a. m. Monday. He was shot about 6 p. m. Saturday May 22nd.

GOOD RELIEF of constipation by a GOOD LAXATIVE

Many folks get such refreshing relief by taking Black-Draught for constipation that they prefer it to other laxatives and urge their friends to try it. Black-Draught is made of the leaves and roots of plants. It does not disturb digestion but stimulates the lower bowel so that constipation is relieved.

SEE THE PLOWS THAT LOOP THE LOOP!

Instead of pushing earth to one side, Oliver Big Base Plows lift and turn it completely over, with a circular "loop the loop" motion. Surface trash is completely buried. Weed seeds are sunk forever. Insect eggs are too deep down to hatch. Heavy cover crops of sweet clover, cornstalks or combine stubble are completely buried.

Don't forget, either, that this "looping the loop" crumbles and pulverizes the soil more thoroughly—leaving it free from lumps and clods and in the best possible condition for a new crop. You'll also want to see the patented Depth Adjustment Screw. Only Oliver has it—so that your plowing depth can be changed while in motion, and with less effort than it takes to turn a grindstone. Come in and see the plows that cover!

Textbook Heroine in College

DENTON, Texas, Oct. .—Texas school children know Nancy Harris as the gay little heroine who rides ponies to adventure in the state-adopted texts, "Real Life Readers," which they use in their first classes in school.

But Nancy, whose fan mail has reached from coast to coast, is growing up, and this year is a freshman at the North Texas State Teachers College, where her father, Dr. B. B. Harris, is dean.

Above, Nancy is seen as she was when Dr. Cora M. Martin first conceived the idea of a series of readers about real children. The picture is one of those used to illustrate the books.

Below, Nancy today, a charming little co-ed of 15.

Texas Pension Cut To Be 15 Per Cent

Austin Oct. 30.—The average Texas old age pension grant likely will have to be cut around 15 per cent because of the legislature's failure to provide additional revenue. Claude D. Teer, chairman of the board of control, said today.

He pointed out the estimate was optimistic because he was not considering the possibility the board would have to start repaying a $1,650,000 loan to a Dallas bank in the immediate future.

The average payment this month was only $13.71. The constitution allows grants up to $30 and many persons have contended the average should be $16 to $18.

Giles C. Avriett, senior at the University of Texas, is a candidate for a Rhodes Scholarship, says Dr. D. A. Penick, chairman of the committee. The name of the former Cameron boy was published Friday in the Daily Texan.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Giles L. Avriett who moved to Austin two years ago. He graduated from Yoe High School with honors and has been an outstanding student at State.

Only six students are eligible from the student body of over 7000, it was announced. They will appear with other winners over the state before the committee for Texas and those named will appear before the national committee which names the winners.

Rev. J. Coy Williams, pastor of the First Methodist church here, left with his wife and daughter, Miss Nell Williams, Tuesday for Texarkana where they will attend Annual Texas Methodist Conference which is being held in that city.

Spanish War Colorful Back Ground for "Love Under Fire" Here Thursday and Friday

Gay Loretta Young, more captivating than ever, with handsome, dashing Don Ameche, who thrills millions as the hit star of radio's biggest Sunday night air-show, go romancing tempestuously in turbulent Spain in the Twentieth Century-Fox fast-moving comedy-drama of romance, intrigue, and mad adventure, "Love Under Fire," which opens today at the Cameron Theatre.

Borrah Minevitch and his gang harmonica wizards who scored a tremendous success in "One in a Million," are featured with Frances Drake, Walter Catlett, John Carradine, Sig Rumann, and Harold Huber in the supporting cast.

Set against a background of warfare "Love Under Fire" is replete with fast and furious fun as Loretta and Don ignores the spatter of shells about them, and the exploding of bombs in the distance, to spat, love and kiss in one of the foremost comedy photoplays of the year.

Concerned in the swift-moving story is a frightened girl, Loretta Young, fleeing about Europe, seeking to evade capture and imprisonment for a crime she mistakenly believes she has committed. A Scotland Yard country Loretta and Don are pursued a criminal, until he discovers certain facts which clear up matters.

Meanwhile, however, both handsome young Scotland Yard man and Loretta find themselves in the midst of still greater trouble. The foreign city is bombarded from the air, and troops move in on a rampage, blasting a bank in search of certain jewels of high value. An officer, learning that an English-speaking girl has beaten them to the jewels, arrests Loretta.

In endeavoring to escape from the country Loretta and Don are pursued by a foreign officer who is threatened with death by the firing squad unless he recovers the jewels. Their airplane is fired on by batteries of anti-aricraft, and their car narrowly escapes as a burning airplane falls beside it; but Loretta and Don finally escape to a British merchant ship.

With death awaiting them if they are caught with the jewels, they are pursued by an enemy gunboat which captures them again. Loretta turns to the foreign officer, believing that Don plans to imprison her on his return to England with her. She learns just in time, however, that such was not the detective's intention.

From then on, Don and Loretta are caught in a turmoil of exciting events, escaping from one perilous situation only to find themselves involved in another. A swift-moving series of exciting situations bring "Love Under Fire" to a thrilling climax.

Mingling in all the dramatic events are Borrah Minevitch and his gang, lending touches of comedy and music to many of the sequences. Frances Drake, dark brunette beauty, plays the role of an English girl, while goggle-eyed Walter Catlett is a perfect comedy foil for the sinister villainy of John Carradine, Sig, Rumann, and Harold Huber.

Twentieth Century-Fox Production Chief Darryl F. Zanuck selected George Marshall to direct the romantic comedy, with Nunnally Johnson as associate producer. The story sparkles with the wit of Gene Fowler, Allen Rivkin, and Ernest Pascal, who wrote the screen adaptation, based on a play by Walter Hackett.

Celebration

will deliver the address of the day beginning at 2 p. m.

The parade will form at the school and march to the rodeo grounds located at the Lawless Green field. The Rodeo starts at 2:30 p. m. A cash prize of $2.50 will be given by the Legion Post at Cameron for the best dressed Cow Girl and a $2.50 prize for the best dressed Cow Boy. Those who wish to enter this contest should contact Grady Little, in charge.

The Rodeo comes to Cameron well recommended. It recently played at the Bartlett Fair. It is not the largest Rodeo in Texas but is said to be one of the best. There will be trick riding, roping and several added features. There will also be some of the performing horses recently seen at the Prison Rodeo in Huntsville. Ifficials have promised two chutes so that no delay will be occasioned in the progress of the program.

If the weather permits and the crowds justify there will be another performance at 7:30 p. m. New acts and other features will characterize this show.

Beginning at 9 p. m. a dance will be held at the National Hall. The music will be furnished by the Blue Jackets from Temple and Radio station KTEM.

The Legion men have worked hard to provide the people of Milam county a good program of entertainment for the afternoon of November 11th. The Cameron men have had the cooperation of the various Posts through the recently organized County Council.

E. W. Streetman, adjutant here said: "We believe that everyone who attends the Rodeo and Dance, will enjoy themselves very much. Also the ex-service men of the county will all say that it was one of the biggest celebrations that we have ever had."

Prohibition

We are asking Milam County churches to give an offering to the cause of Prohibtion to get a pamphlet printed to cost 3 1-2c each and to contain 20 stories to encourage people to vote against saloons.

Here's The Jones Family Again In "Hot Water" Saturday Preview Feature

Dad is boiling, the kids are in a stew and the whole Jones Family's all steamed up over the election in their most uproarious, human hit, "Hot Water," latest in the famous Twentieth Century-Fox series, is a Cameron Theatre Saturday Preview feature.

Directed by Frank R. Strayer, with Max Golden as associate producer, "Hot Water" shows Dad Jones tossing his hat in the ring in an attempt to clean up the town of Maryville. The pangs of civic conscience have convinced Dad that the town needs a reform adminstration, and the family thinks he is the man for the job.

It is a notorious night-club running under what seems to be official immunity that fires the anger of Dad Jones, especially when his young son Jack begins to frequent the place. The campaign that follows seems to be a landslide for the Jones ticket until the owners of "The Red Mill" perpetrate a "frame-up" on young Jack. When the election seems lost, Roger Jones, embryonic newspaperman, turns up with the evidence exposing the crooks and the opposition party.

Jed Prouty, Shirely Deane, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason, Kenneth Howell, George Ernest, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan are featured in their familiar Jones Family roles, and Joan Marsh and Marjorie Weaver are included in the supporting cast.

THEY QUIT

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item, and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

The second called session of the Legislature adjourned last week without making any provision for the payment of appropriations made for the support of the adult blind, needy children and the payment of school teachers' retirement fund.

It appears that the Senate wanted to reduce appropriations amounting to some $5,500,000 made at the regular session and by this reduction or diversion an economy could be effected by that amount. It is argued by the Senate if this was done it would be easier to pay the other appropriations made by the Legislature including the old age pension. After the House and Senate had disagreed the controversy was referred to a free conference committee, composed of five mesmbers of the House and five members of the Senate.

While there was no fist fight pulled off, the controversy became very heated, and as the clock struck the closing hour of adjournemnt both sides agreed to disagree, and now the people are left with the bag to hold. Both sides laid the blame on each other. The only thing they agreed on is that Goevrnor Allred caused the whole trouble. The Governor in turn denied the charge made by the House and Senate against him, and claims in effect that it was political skull duggery that caused the Legislature to adjourn without providing the revenues of $15,000,000 that he had demanded in his special call to the Legislature.

It seems like now that an interminable row has started and will not stop until after the primary election next year. The House, Senate and the Governor continue to abuse each other and if one-half of what they say about each other is only half true, then the people have got a sorry set of officials, and mismanagement of state affairs will go on for time indefinitely.

The Governor declares that he will not call the Legislature again, but my opinion is that he will back up and will call another special session before the first of February of next year.

The financial affairs of the state are in a sorry mess, indeed, and it is a measly shame which is apparent to all liberty loving Texans that our affairs are being wrecked on the rocks of official incompetency. While there are many bright and brilliant young men in the House and while for the sake of charity, we can admit that the Governor is a bright and brilliant young man, yet it is quite evident that the lack of experience and knowledge of the practical affairs of business and government is the underlying cause of the deplorable condition of state affairs which now afflicts the people.

If the Governor persists in his boast that he will call no more special sessions and if the young would be statesmen element in the House persists in their contention, our state affairs will go on from bad to worse. While there is a good deal of feeling on the part of the Governor and the House members against the Senate, the fact remains that the Senate wanted to do nothing but reduce appropriations made at the regular session for over 5 1-2 millions dollars and it does seem like that no censure is due the Senate for wanting to practice economy. The Governor and certain Senators conducted an admiration society for each other's benefit, but stripped of all personalities the Senate's position was merely to reduce former appropriations considered not needed and thereby other pressing demands could have been paid without unnecessary burdens upon the people.

There is a great deal of discussion already about the Governor's appointment of Harry Graves to fill the place caused by the death of Judge Lattimore. The snow white locks of Judge Graves makes him appear to be passed three score and ten or near the age of Judge Lattimore. As a members of the House he voted to increase the salary of the members of the Court of Criminal Appeals and now he is to draw that increase in salary as a member of the Court. I would like to ask: What does the Constitution mean when it says that nobody can hold an office, the emoluments of which have been increased and salary during the term for which said person is elected? If this can be done in the face of the Constitutional prohibition then any member of the Legislature can vote to double the salary and be in turn appointed to get the increase as salary for any job. I would like to know what becomes of all these sanctimonious wails of the lawyers about the Constitution. It looks like they never did give a tinker's damn about the Constitution when somebody's salary is involved. This will come up again when attempt is made to confirm Judge Graves or when his election is before the people next year. We will see what we will see.

19 YEARS AGO--

On November 11, 1918 Peace came to the World again after more than 5 years of the most destructive war in human history.

Nineteen years later we celebrate that Armistice. The nation holds in grateful memory those who sacrificed. On hill sides in foreign fields lie the dead of our nation in that conflict.

That it may not happen again, we trust, along with the millions of peace loving Americans.

WE GAIN--

Revising mailing lists each year often times nets a temporary loss in circulation.

The Herald is an exception. We have actually shown a gain in circulation. Hundreds of names have been added and are to be added to the lists.

If there be any among you who did not receive your copy this week, it will go formard to you next week.

Maintaining a correct and up to date mailing list is one of the larger problems of a newspaper and not often fully understood by the public.

Papers not paid for in advance become free copies under postal regulations and cannot be mailed. In this case publishers have no option. They must not jeopardize their circultion.

The publishers of The Herald wish to thank the readers for this splendid response. We also thanks those who have come in as new readers.

Following its policy of co-operation the Herald goes to every school in Milam County again for 9 months.

There has been no loss from revising mailing lists. On the contrary there has been a decided gain.
